YAMACRAW

1947-48

The Yearbook of Oglethorpe University

Oglethorpe University, Georgia

May, 1948

W. K. Sullivan

FOREWORD

What is the YAMACRAW?

The YAMACRAW is a small book about a small college, put together by a few amateurs who, short on experience and funds and help, dared to hope they could have a yearbook anyhow. They know the YAMACRAW's faults; they've known them so long and so well that they've almost come to like them. They got the book out.

What is the YAMACRAW's Theme?

The Theme of the YAMACRAW is OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY, where a man equipped with courage and vision and a battered old car dared to hope to make of a school that "..wasn't anemic; it was as dead as a catfish in a pine tree" a University that could set the pace for a region.

To that man the YAMACRAW is dedicated.

DEDICATION: TO THE MAN WITH THE PLAN

To Dr. Philip Weltner, who after a life of service has scored yet another victory in his salvation of Oglethorpe University from oblivion and his origination of the Oglethorpe Plan, this first post-war YAMACRAW is respectfully and gratefully dedicated.

The Oglethorpe Plan of education for making a life as well as for making a living involves a course of studies "which makes sense from first to last", those subjects devoted to living in the community and to human understanding being required, with the student selecting under guidance the group of studies which will prepare him to make a living. How the six Divisions of study at Oglethorpe fit into the Oglethorpe Plan is explained briefly in the appropriate faculty pages of the Yamacraw.

Organized at Oglethorpe in 1920, reactivated in 1947, Le Conte aims at the advancement of scientific study and research at the University, sponsors the Science Seminars.

BLUE KEY

Oglethorpe's chapter of Blue Key was installed in 1926. After a period of wartime inactivity, Blue Key was revived in May, 1947 when Boar's Head voted to join the national organization. Selection for membership requires a high scholastic average, participation in campus activities, and qualities of leadership. The group sponsors the annual Boar's Head Ceremony and renders various services to the campus and the student body as a whole.

THE STORMY PETREL

The fall of 1947 found The Stormy Petrel wearing a very bold face, long and narrow in size, and dressed in news print, but when spring came around The Stormy Petrel decided to surprise everyone and have a spring coming-out party. The slick paper, new pictures and cuts, the small friendly size, and a large staff of assistants made the change-over a success.

At the start of the school year 1947-48 Jack Brooks was Editor, Ken Steele Assistant Editor, George Scott and Dick Stoller News Editors, Wally Crider Sports Editor, Ann Mason Feature Editor, Shirley Sanders Business Manager, Bill Rhodes and Gordon Bynum Advertising Managers, Joel Chandler Make-up Editor, Jewel Fisher, Ann Adams, Kitty Henson, Alice Callaway, Edgar Bodiford, Joe Martin Reporters, and Don West Faculty Advisor. When the horses were changed in midstream in the spring, Bill Rhodes became Editor, with Jay Hall Feature Editor, Wally Crider Sports Editor, Martha Mayson Art Editor, Elmer Etling Business Manager. Staff members are: Clare Isanhour, Bob Snow, Alice Callaway, Jewel Fisher, Diane Himmer, Alice Gore, Shirley Sanders, Dick Stoller, Dick Griffiths, Bob Owens, Jack Fisher, and George Scott. Dr. J. J. Brooks is now Faculty Advisor.

Unquestionably The Stormy Petrel is well-named. It has ridden through many storms in the past two years and the majority have been financial. There were occasions when the storm clouds were very dark and things looked hopeless, but The Stormy Petrel, the only bird that can fly in the face of a storm, made a successful flight, ending the school year in the black. The Stormy Petrel receives its support mainly from advertisements, but the University, alumni, and other friends give funds from time to time.

BASKETBALL 1947-48

(Reprint below courtesy of the Stormy Petrel. It would be impossible to add anything to it.--Ed.)

The Petrels played a thirty game schedule with two entries in local tournaments. Most of the games were played in a fast league and many games were played with the sick and crippled huddled disconsolately on the bench. Few road trips were made with a full team, many of them having only one or no substitute for the first five. Yet the Petrels captured 15 wins to 19 losses and ran up the score of 1,617 to opponent's 1,777.

But only those who witnessed the games can appreciate the effort put forth by the team, which on several occasions was required (for lack of substitutes) to play the full game without rest. Although some of the scores show that the Birds were outplayed, they were always fighting and gave a good account of themselves.

The most outstanding showings of the Petrels quintet were those with Ft. Benning and the University of Chattanooga. Both games were won in the home gym by a one point margin and both return games were lost by a slim margin.

It would be hard to select any outstanding performers for the Petrels, except for high scoring honors. A. Z. Johnson led his team in this aspect with Jim Hinson running a close second. Hinson, is the only Junior on the team. The other members of the team have two remaining years for the Black and Gold.

As the Yamacraw goes to press the 1948 baseball squad has won its first four games by lop-sided scores: two with Piedmont, one each with Fort MacPherson and North Georgia. Don Brennan's ability as coach appears to be speaking for itself in the box scores, and in Ronnie Sinkway the yawning gap left in the pitching staff by Bobby DeVaney's departure for the Detroit Tigers seems to be filled. Prospects are bright for one of the best seasons yet.
